

You may be sitting here wondering “What the f*ck was that?”

Let me tell you.

This year we learned a lot.

We learned to embrace the art of simply trying.

We chose to create amongst the chaos.

We found yearning for the future replaced by appreciation for the past and gratitude for the present.

We found that while we were saving lives, we could change them too.

So ask one more time, “What the f*ck was that?”

That was an opportunity.

And when the clock strikes twelve, we won't stop making the most of it.